

Dr Finian O' Shea	Dr Finian O' Shea is a former lecturer at Church of Ireland College, Dublin where he worked primarily on the Post Graduate Diploma in Learning Support and Special Educational Needs. In addition to his interest in Inclusive Education, Finian has a long standing passion for and interest in, the teaching and learning of literacy and in particular, in literature for children and young adults. He is a past president and honorary lifetime member of The Literacy Association of Ireland and served on their executive for over three decades. He is currently supervising a number of Masters students in the School of Education at Trinity College Dublin. He recently completed a training course in the teaching English as an additional language and is hoping to do some voluntary work in this area. His current academic interests are in the areas of literacy identity, reflective practice and more recently in literacy tattoos. He is also enjoying and exploring the wonderful world of the MOOC.
