

Johnny Murphy	John Murphy is a Divisional Inspector in the Department of Education and Skills. He worked as a teacher for over twenty years. As well as teaching mainstream classes, he also worked in learning support, as a resource teacher and special class teacher. He served as acting principal before becoming an inspector. John has extensive experience in special educational matters. In addition to his work as a divisional inspector of mainstream primary schools he was the designated inspector for the majority of special schools in Munster. John holds qualifications from Mary Immaculate College, University College Cork, and the University of Birmingham where he studied the education of the Deaf and the education of pupils with Visual Impairment. He served as the DES (Ireland) representative on an OECD Committee: Special Educational Needs: Disabilities, Difficulties, Disadvantages (SENDDD). He served previously a member of the Council of the NCSE for 2013-2016. John now works full-time in the Special Education Section of the Department of Education and Skills.
--------------------------	--